

Rice is Nice! Carolina Gold really Was Gold in Some Early Colonies

In The Ghosts of Pickpocket Plantation, Terry spends a summer with his Aunt Penny at her newly-inherited rice plantation. Rice was important to the Georgia and Carolina colonies. Its most profitable rice was called Carolina Gold for its creamy golden color.

Color the dotted rice grains below to figure out the hidden message! →

