The Mystery at Plymouth Rock

Bring It To Life!

1. Draw a picture of what you think a Pukwudgie might look like. Next, add some other details, such as a Pukwudgie house.
2. Play a Wampanoag game! Take a small stick and tie a piece of string near one end. Next, find a flexible piece of vine (or wire), and form it into a circle about 2 inches in diameter. Tie the circle to the other end of the string that's tied to the stick. Use the stick to toss the circle in the air and catch it back on the stick.
3. Use paper grocery bags or brown butcher paper to make Wampanoag clothing. Cut a circle in the top and sides of a grocery bag. Decorate with Native American designs. Use scissors to make "fringe" around the bottom. Cut squares of paper from bags or butcher paper to make Wampanoag breech cloths. Decorate them with Native American designs, then glue or tape them over a string or belt. Wear it around your waist.
4. With help from an adult, research wetu construction and look at pictures. Use twigs and pieces of bark to make a small replica.
5. Have book club members choose a Plymouth landmark to research and share their findings with the group. Which landmark would you most like to visit and why?
