Abe was tall for his age and a hard worker. He worked outside from dawn to dusk and was skilled at using an axe. He was so good at splitting rails that he was later nicknamed "the Rail-Splitter." The Lincolns were poor and Abe had to work so much to earn a living that he rarely had the chance to go to school.

Color the axe and log.

Abe's mother died in 1819 from milk sickness. Solve the problem to learn how old Abe was when she died.

1819 (year mother died)
- 1809 (year Abe was born)
